August

Thinking upon the present summer
and
Things we wish we knew.

We sit and think in time
Of wonderful memories so few.
We laid upon the beaches shore,
Tho water was so blue.
Remember how our family would adore

The things we use to do.
Shriving for improvement
So the summer we see again.
Giving thanks for having
The value of a friend.
Wishing for redemption,
That our troubles will mend.
Just hoping for the summer not come to a bad end.

Dear Houston Deaf Senior Citizens & Friends:

We have two separate accounts at two different banks for Houston Deaf Senior Citizens Newsletter and Love Fund. When some of you made out one check for both renewal newsletter and donation to Love Fund. We have a problem about deposits. So from now on we would be appreciate that when you want to pay for renewal and donate to Love Fund the same time, please make out two separate checks, one to HDSC Newsletter and another one to Love Fund. Mail separate checks: SC Newsletter to Frank Shaw's address and Love Fund to Zelma Curbello's address. (See below). Also please DO NOT MAIL CASH. Thank you for your attention.

your kind of expression of sympathy:

Dear Senior Citizens,

We do want to thank you for sending us a beautiful basket of flowers, (pink and white carnations with a pink bow), and also for your thoughtfulness and prayers for our mother, Helen. God bless you all richly!

With our love, Jeanette, Elizabeth and Pauline

Houston Area Field Trip

July 11, 2003

The group of Senior Citizens went to the Downtown Aquarium in the morning and rode a train through an acrylic tunnel right to the center of the enormous shark tank, providing them with an up-close view of these amazing animals. The 200,000-gallon Shark Voyage is home to a variety of different shark species from the Pacific Ocean and Caribbean. Then inside the building we saw the Aquarium and Adventure Exhibit. There are many beautiful, colorful fishes and some are odd fishes. We had lunch at the Marina Matinee Café at the Downtown Aquarium and were amazed to watch several different short movies while we ate. That afternoon we toured the Houston Maritime Museum, and we also were amazed to see many unique handcrafted boats. We all had a good time.

Water Fountain --- kids had a great time
Playing under the sprinkles to cool off.

Houston Maritime Museum

HISTORY OF THE MUSEUM --- Founder James L. Manzolillo has had a life-long association with the ocean. A naval architect who has traveled extensively, Manzolillo came to believe that the artifacts acquired as a result of his visiting countless countries throughout the world were meant to be shared. He also recognized the need for a maritime museum in Houston. Hence, in November, 2000, the Houston Maritime Museum was born.

www.houstonmaritimemuseum.org

Those handcrafted models are beautiful.

That's amazing!
If you are interested in the historical, come to the Houston Maritime Museum at 2204 Dorrington, south of Holcombe and one block east of Greenbriar.

News from Billie Holloway

Hi Everyone, Tom and I both are doing pretty good. We go and visit doctors whenever we get an appointment. Tom had 4th skin cancer operation, and is doing well.

We had our first great-granddaughter last January 30, 2002. While her parents went to work we baby-sat her. We grew to cherish her.

Tom and I traveled to Arkansas with our daughter, Beverly and son, Darrell to see our granddaughter, Sandy Reynolds graduate from Arkansas School for the Deaf May 30th. She was Class Valedictorian and we are very proud of her successful. Love to all, Tom & Billie

Annie McFadden: by Betty Tefler

She had a heart problem recently. She had heart surgery at St Luke Hospital in early of July. She stayed there for about two weeks, but now she's at home with her grandmother. She is doing OK.

150th Anniversary at La. School for the Deaf: by Audrey Leger

Louisiana School for the Deaf Alumni Association did a great job of planning the 150th Anniversary at the school campus from June 19th to 21st a meeting, social, tour old and new school campus and banquet. I went there and met many old friends and enjoyed chatting with them, although as I didn't get a chance to chat long with some of them. I also met some people who live in Texas that graduated from La. School for the Deaf. We were stunned that 486 people had attended there on Saturday. That was amazing! We had great time at the banquet and dance, too. Some of them got the awards for hard work for 150th anniversary, etc. Hazel Pauline (Bienvenu) Wood got the honor of Hall of Fame for her recognition of hard work, Athletic Director/PE teaching Supervisor, several officers of the organizations, and support of some deaf community including a Hospice volunteer. Her husband Ed, family and parents including her "aunt", Pearl Lauve are very proud of her. Unfortunately her sisters, Jo and MJ, had important business that they were unable to postpone and unable to make it to honor her, but Pauline has their congratulations. They also are proud of her....Congratulations Pauline! Audrey

News by P. Aaron Theriot

We are doing OK, and I still am working at the Metro Bingo. I have been working all my life and do not know how to retire yet. Gracie goes to the Braille class two days weekly, and she enjoys learning.

I went to the library and noticed a large note. I read and thought it's funny, then I copied and sent it to the Houston News. (See below)

While working in the library at a university, I was often shocked by the excesses students would use to get out of paying their fees for overdue books.

One evening an older student returned two books that were way overdue and threw a fit over the "outrageous" $2.00 fee that I asked her to pay. I tried to explain how much she owed for each day, but she insisted she should be exempt. "You don't understand," she blurted out, "I did not even read them!"

It is all day's work. Your friend, Aaron & Gracie

Grandson by James & Lavern Fair

Our 13 years old grandson, Mickey, is a baseball player. That's our daughter, Donna Myers' son. We went to Boerne, TX to watch him played the baseball game last June. His team won the South State Champion, and also won the World Series in Broken Arrow, Oklahoma last week (the week of July 14 – 18). We grandparents are proud of him.

News by Janice Caraway (Christine McKinnon's daughter)

On June 26, 2003, approximately 100+ deaf/hard of hearing people from various cities and states and 6 interpreters, boarded the Carnival Ship "Celebration" for the 2003 TAD Convention. We sailed to Cozumel, Mexico. We arrived at Cozumel on Saturday morning, only to be drenched from the rains that Tropical storm Bill was leaving as it passed by. Some of us did get off of the ship and take the Atlantis Submarine ride and it was beautiful down below. The scuba and snorkeling tours were canceled due to the weather. But even with the storm and the ship doing quite a bit of rocking, we all had a very good time. There was an "Ultimate survivor" contest and the names of 4 deaf people were drawn, Lorena Bubeck, Julie Spaulding, and Janice & Wayne Southwell, along with 4 names of other passengers on board the ship. It was a lot of fun and I really was proud of how the other passengers realized that the deaf and the hearing could be involved in a game and have a total blast. The last part of the game was being a winner by the clapping and hollering of the audience and Wayne was the final winner and the whole ship yelled with approval. It was great. The floor shows were awesome. The employees of the ship were so attentive and really tried hard to be able to communicate with the deaf. This was the first time that they have had an actual group of hearing impaired passengers and had interpreters for the different shows, and they were so impressed and were eager to make everyone feel comfortable.

TTY's, Closed Caption TV, devices for the door so that the light would flash if someone was knocking on your door were provided to each of the rooms. They went out of their way to be sure everyone was comfortable and had everything that they needed. Pagers were provided to the interpreters, in case of an emergency, an interpreter would be notified.

I think that everyone had a wonderful time. I know that my mother, Christine McKinnon, Allan & Lorena Bubeck, William & Evelyn Floerke, William & Jeanette Turnham, Joyce Adams, James & Julie Spaulding, Travis & Gertie Sessions, Wayne & Janice Southwell, and so other many names to mention had a wonderful time.

All of our appreciation goes to Jean Wolff of A & M Travel Service for all of her hard work over the last 2 years to make everything come together and being sure that all of the details were worked out and everyone had a good time.

My mother, Gladys Walker Lester, 94 years old, passed away Thursday, July 3, 2003. We viewed the body at Rush Funeral Home in Oakdale, Louisiana. In about an hour later, the nursing home reported my uncle, 90 years old, died. Both my mother and her brother passed away 26 hours and 15 minutes apart. On Saturday, July 5th there was a double funeral. Their caskets stood a few feet apart in the Pentecostal church, and they buried in the same lot in Oakdale, LA.

My mother had been very sick, and she was bedridden for a long time. Uncle lived in the nursing home for about two years. The last few weeks, he was in Alexandria (Louisiana) hospital, and he had Parkinson's disease and the cancer had spread throughout his body. He was sent back to the nursing home one week before he died there. By the way, mother left 10 children, and uncle never had any child.

Joan & Lewis Stovall by Carol Cragan

On Thursday, July 17, 2003, Joan & Lewis Stovall had a bad accident on the way to somewhere. Lewis was not hurt, but bruised and scratch. Joan is in a bad shape. She had five ribs broken, collarbone, shoulder blade, cervix all broken, and one lung collapsed. She was rushed to the hospital in Fort Worth and in the ICU. On July 18th we received the news that Joan is much better and alert. She knows about the accidents and remembers. They probably will move her to a regular room on Sunday, the 20th. Lewis is staying with his daughter. Joan will have long term care at the facility for an extensive physical therapy.

Tell you how it happened. Here is the story---Lewis and Joan had stopped for gas and were getting ready to get back on the highway so they had to turn left out of the gas station to stop. Lewis said he saw 2 cars coming on the other lane buy the 18-wheeler, but I guess Joan only saw 1 car and thought it was clear so she pulled out to turn. The other car hit them on her side and they rolled over. Sounds like the 18-wheeler was partially blocking her view of the other lane.

Alexandria Association of the Deaf, Inc: by Audrey Leger

AAD (Alexandria Association of the Deaf, Inc) in Louisiana planned the annual picnic on Saturday, July 19, 2003 at Chicot State Park East Landing near Ville Platte, La. The members of AAD always plan to have a picnic every year and this time it was 31st annual. There was a large crowd of people. There were good prizes of 8 TVs and other stuff including the raffles to win the money. I went down there with Paula Szablowski and Roger Spivey. We met William Hebert and a few others from Texas there and enjoyed seeing old friends again. Roger was the lucky one who won the last prize, 27-inch TV. He gave it to his girl, Paula. We got back home very late Saturday night. We were exhausted, but had a great time.

UPS TO SETTLE IN DEAF WORKERS' SUIT: Houston Chronicle, July 22, 2003

'Deliverer will provide interpreting and monitor promotions'

Oakland, Calif.—United Parcel Service will pay $10 million and ensure deaf employees and applicants full access to workplace safety information and promotion opportunities under a proposed settlement of a class-action lawsuit.

The agreement, which includes $4 million for plaintiffs attorneys, ends a trial of a class-action lawsuit claiming UPS, the nation's fourth-largest private employer, discriminated against over 900 current and former hearing-impaired workers.

"I'm hopeful that deaf employees will not be held back anymore," Babaranti Oloyede, one of the plaintiffs, said through an interpreter.

In a trial that began in April, hearing-impaired plaintiffs testified that they were routinely excluded from workplace information, denied opportunities for promotion and exposed to unsafe conditions because of lack of accommodation by the company.

"I've been working there for 12 years now, and for all those years UPS didn't provide interpreters, a telephone for emergency news, closed captioning training videotapes or emergency signals like flashing lights," said Oloyede, 45, who works in UPS' Oakland office. "We had many meetings, like a meeting about anthrax, and I didn't have an interpreter, so I didn't know what was going on."

Officials denied discriminating against hearing-impaired employees and on Monday said UPS has tried to accommodate deaf and hard-of-hearing employees.

"UPS has long been a positive work environment for those with disabilities and we're proud of our record thus far," said Peggy Gardner, spokeswoman for the Atlanta-based Company. "We feel the measures called for in the settlement are only going to make a positive work environment even better."

Plaintiffs' lawyers disagreed; saying UPS was forced into the settlement by its cavalier attitude toward the disabled workers.

"Their defense was basically that deaf people should be happy to have a job," attorney Todd Schneider said. "I was shocked, the court was shocked, and that's why we settled."

The proposed settlement requires court approval after notice is distributed throughout the country and a fairness hearing is held.

Under the proposed settlement, UPS would create a system to track promotions and make changes to ensure that deaf employees and job applicants have access to certified interpreters. The company would also provide text telephones and vibrating pagers to alert deaf employees to emergency evacuations. The settlement also includes $100,000 for a monitoring program.

The settlement resolves all issues in the case except for UPS' policy precluding deaf people from any driving positions. The U.S. Postal Service permits deaf employees who have demonstrated safe driving skills to operate some delivery vehicles. That issue will be resolved in court.
