Issue 10

On Wednesday, August 28th, Ms. Wendy Prater, Attorney at Law, came to speak to the seniors about Wills, Living Wills, and POA (Power of Attorney). She was very informative as she explained what happens when there is no Will. The State can do what they want with the property and money. All people need to have a Living Will to authorize someone else to make the decision to pull the plug or allow the person to continue to live. Doctors would keep the patient hooked up to machines if there is no Living Will. Depending on the patient's Insurance, the Doctor will make the decision. POA is needed in case the person is unable to take care of himself/herself. The earlier you have a POA, the better it is. These POA needs to walk through the person's personal effects and bills. All the seniors there at the meeting enjoyed it so much with Jim Lawrence interpreting for us. A big Thank You to Jim Lawrence and Ms. Prater.

For more information, you can contact her at 713-802-9171 or by email at praterlaw@sbcglobal.net. Her address is 1919 North Loop West, Suite 490, Houston, TX 77008.

Carrie Frost is the new Project Manager for the Texas Deaf-Blind Equipment Distribution Program. She is an employee of Perkins School for the Blind, but funding for her position comes from the Federal Communications Commission. Her job is to travel around Texas & inform deaf-blind consumers about the free federally-funded communication equipment available to them. She will be speaking briefly to us at HDSC/LF General Meeting at MMSC on Wednesday, October 9th. Her presentation will be short. She will be bringing applications as well as explain how to qualify for equipment.

Editor's Message

Hello Subscriber,

I am out of town during October. I'm not going to work on HDSC Newsletter as our November issue would be missed. Hope you understand. Thank you.

I also have a surgery (knee replacement) on Tuesday, November 12, 2013. I think I can resume to work on December issue.

Thanks,

Judy Becker
Editor of HDSC Newsletter

Mary Jo Stevens and I decided to go to Harlingen, TX to visit our friend Cindy Graham. We stayed for 4 days in July. Cindy took us to Iwo Jima Park and to South Padre Island for tour. We ate at Blackbeard Restaurant. We really enjoyed it very much.

In August other trip, Mary Jo and I went to Waco, TX for Fish Fry picnic at Belmead Park, very nice park and good crowd. We played beanbag throws in corn hole, door prizes, etc. I won $10.00 door prize. Stanley Green also won. Bert Hill won beanbags champion against Stanley. Fish Fry were delicious and other people brought lots of covered dishes and desserts. We spend 2 nights at Jerrie's home.

On September 1st, I flew to Dallas and spent with Stanley & Linda Green. We went to their friend's house for Labor Day, had fun BBQ and played beanbags & L-C-R Dice game. Then the Greens and I went to a casino in Shreveport, LA for one night. We had fun and jumped around different hotels for casino. We returned to Dallas and stopped by to visit Bert & Laura Hill for a while. I really enjoyed my trip. I came back home September 5th.

Henry Martyn Whitney was the deaf postmaster of the Hawaiian Kingdom (years before Hawaii became a new state of the USA). This Kingdom issued its own postal stamps, and Whitney served as the postmaster twice in the years to come, first in 1850 & then second, 27 years later. As the postmaster, he helped designing one of the most expensive postage stamps ever. His boss was the Minister of Interior.

6 Steps to Improve Your Memory

June/July 2013

1. Learn something

Stimulating the brain helps it develop a resilience that allows us to fight off diseases like Alzheimer's, says Paul D. Nussbaum, Ph.D, an adjunct professor of neurological surgery at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine who has been working with AARP on its brain health program. "Age doesn't matter," he says. "We have the ability to shape our brains throughout our lives."

2. Sleep

Getting fewer than six hours of sleep a night can raise the risk of stroke, according to research presented at a 2012 Associated Professional Sleep Societies meeting.

3. Eat right

More than half your plate should be filled with green, leafy vegetables. Get plenty of fish, nuts and olive oil; steer clear of refined carbs. A 2009 Columbia University study found that this kind of diet may help ward off Alzheimer's.

4. Challenge yourself

"The number one memory complaint people have is that they're bad with names," says neurologist Majid Fotuhi, M.D., Ph.D. "People need to stop whining and realize they can do it!" His prescription: Memorize three names a day — such as those of an announcer on TV, a person in your company and a key player on your favorite sports team.

5. Walk with a friend

Psychiatrist Gary Small, M.D., calls this a triple threat against Alzheimer's disease: It gives you a cardiovascular workout, stress-relieving social interaction and mentally stimulating conversation.

6. Meditate

Reduced anxiety improves blood flow to the brain. A quick calm-me-down: Inhale for a count of seven, hold for a count of seven, exhale for a count of seven. Repeat seven times.

No-Bake Triple Chocolate Brownies

Makes 16 small brownies

- 1 generous cup graham cracker crumbs, from 8 to 10 whole graham crackers
- 1/2 cup finely chopped roasted hazelnuts
- 1/4 cup cocoa powder
- 1/2 teaspoon kosher salt
- 3/4 cups sweetened condensed milk
- 4 ounces bittersweet chocolate, melted

1. Line an 8-inch (20-cm) square baking dish with two crossed strips of parchment or wax paper, letting the long ends hang over the sides of the dish. Grease lightly with butter or baking spray.
2. In a large bowl, mix together the crackers, hazelnuts, cocoa, and salt. Pour in the milk. (If desired, you can set the can in a pan of warm water to make it easier to scrape out and stir in the milk.) Pour in the melted chocolate and stir firmly to thoroughly combine, then scrape the mixture into the prepared pan. Cover with a piece of plastic wrap and press firmly into the pan.
3. Chill for at least 1 hour, until firm enough to cut. Lift the parchment paper to remove the brownies from the pan. Cut the brownies into small squares. They will be fudgy but quite firm.
4. Store leftover brownies in an airtight container in the fridge for up to 5 days.
