Senior Citizen Program

Officer Randy Melton
Houston Police Department
Deaf and Hard of Hearing Specialist

As you may or may not know I have been trying to compel the Houston Police Department to offer sign language classes for police officers for almost ten years now. I am very glad to say our Chief of Police has taken my request to the City of Houston city council because it requires a funding okay from city council. The officers that pass the American Sign Language class will receive three hours college credit for a foreign language and credits from the Texas peace officer education association. They will also receive bilingual pay when they pass the course.

There was an article in the news paper (Houston Chronicle) on September 28, 1999, in the metropolitan section, that was titled "Sign Language Class Requested by Police". I am hopeful the council will pass the funding for this project. Ten years of working on this, to a reality, I can't tell you how wonderful this makes me feel.

By the time you receive this information I will know if city council has or has not passed the money for this project. If they do not pass it I will keep trying to get sign language taught to police officers here in the Houston Police Department.

My eight hour lecture I give to police officers on what I have learned in the thirteen years I have been working with the deaf and hard of hearing community of Houston in going into the eighth year. I am proud to say that I have trained just over one thousand Houston Police personnel as of this month and I plan on training all five thousand of them.

Sign language class requested by police

By MATT SCHWARTZ
Houston Chronicle

After the city settled two lawsuits involving police treatment of deaf persons, the Houston Police Department wants to enroll some officers in sign-language classes.

Police officials say the request to City Council for funding of the classes and the settlements are unconnected.

The suits, filed under the Americans with Disabilities Act, were settled in recent weeks for a total of $130,000.

The suits were filed by deaf people who complained that they were arrested but not provided interpreters to communicate with police or "allowed" access to specially equipped telephones to contact family or friends from jail.

The city and the Department of Justice are working out a final agreement on city policies and procedures regarding such cases.

Larry Yum, budget director for HPD, said the department had been considering the classes independently of the lawsuits, which were filed as the result of arrests in 1996 and 1997.

On occasion, the police academy has offered one-day training sessions for officers on how to communicate with individuals who are hearing impaired.

Yum said those classes have drawn 20 to 30 officers, prompting HPD officials to seek funding from the City Council for three classes in American Sign Language at Houston Community College at a cost of nearly $37,000. The council is expected to discuss the 12-week classes, which HPD hopes will be attended by 15 to 20 officers each, during its meeting Wednesday.

Councilman Carroll Robinson applauded the idea, saying, "It's good that we provide our officers an additional means of communicating with the public."

But Councilman Rob Todd, whose 12-year-old son is profoundly deaf and wears an implant, said he was hesitant to vote for the classes unless they are part of a broader plan to address issues that can arise when hearing impaired individuals come into contact with police officers.

"The Police Department, from a legal standpoint, has to make certain that it's taking all reasonable steps to make sure that people in custody are apprised of their rights," Todd said. "The problem that we have with people who are hard of hearing is that not all hard of hearing people use sign language. In fact, many do not."

"In some ways, this is an easily saleable thing to show the public that they are making an effort when, in reality, they may not be addressing the issue squarely," he continued. "My suggestion to the Police Department and the Legal Department is that if they are truly going to sit down and determine what is the best way to observe the rights of deaf and hard of hearing persons, they are going to need to have a mixture of things."

He suggested that HPD create a videotape with closed captioning and ASL interpretation explaining one's rights that would be shown to deaf or hard of hearing suspects after they have been arrested.

Tony Koosis, peer support services director at the Houston Center for Independent Living, agreed with Todd that HPD should consider a variety of means of communication, but called the classes a good start.

"The more officers that are able to use ASL, the easier it will be for them to communicate," Koosis said.

"The general order that they operate under, they have certain circumstances where they are supposed to contact certified interpreters," he said. "We would like to see the use of certified interpreters expanded so people who are deaf or hard of hearing have the same rights."

The senior citizens gave Mary Redman a surprise birthday party at Woodhaven Baptist Church with a covered - dish luncheon. She was given a gift certificate with which she bought a pair of clogs. Clogs are the kind of shoes with wooden soles which she enjoyed using very much. Maurice Ford did draw a lovely poster of a bunny signing "ILY" with the words "Happy Birthday, Mary Redman".

Maurice Ford did a beautiful job painting posters for our events. He made a lovely poster for the senior citizens from Austin when they came to visit us. He also made one for Mary Redman's birthday party. We are lucky to have such a talented artist doing posters for us.

On September 20 Z. X. and Dorothy Curry took Lorena Blomdahl to visit Evelyn Henderson in Splendora which is north of Houston. Evelyn is doing very well.

We were saddened to lose our senior citizen friend when Barbara Goebel Corum passed away on October 5, 1999. She attended our regular meetings faithfully to the end. We will certainly miss her. Please read obituary on page six.

Hunting is a great sport when we approach it with the right attitude. Our primary objective should be to enjoy and appreciate the beautiful outdoors that the Lord has provided us with. A shady grove of oaks, a sunset in the evening, a squirrel playing on a log, and a doe sniffing the air is where it is at. A big rack or meat on the grill is an added bonus. Keep the wind in your face, the sun at your back, and the Lord in your heart!

Early McVey's Trip to Nevada and California

On September 1 Early McVey flew to Los Angeles to visit Rocky and Mary Reckenberg for two weeks. Then they went to Las Vegas on Labor Day and stayed at the house of Bert and Joanne Williams. Bert and Early were classmates graduating from TSD in 1942. Bert and Joanne took them sightseeing various casinos and Red Rock Canyon which was west of the city.

That night Early and Mary decided to try their chance at several casinos, but no luck. But they enjoyed looking at the flashing lights and neon ones, too which were everywhere there. They entered the famous casino, such as "New York", "New Paris", "Eiffel Tower", "Beringo" and "Egyptian Luxor". Because of the holiday, these casinos were too crowded, so they had to return to the Williams' place earlier than expected, and they all went to visit the condo where Curtis and Frances Paisley lived only four blocks from the Williams'. They engaged in a long chat about the good old days at TSD where the Paisleys attended in 1930's.

Mary and Early left Las Vegas to return to Los Angeles on Monday, and on their way they stopped at Victorville, CA to visit and spend the night at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scmrtd. On Wednesday morning they went to visit Weldon Westmoreland (also an alumnus of TSD) who had a party for the "Texans" who lived there. They had a chance to meet Virginia Dryer who looked good. She asked Early to tell everyone in Texas a big hello for her. Weldon showed them around his house which was very unusual being on the side of a mountain in Allendale which was north of Los Angeles. He mentioned that he had been seeing many wild animals roaming by his house, but he got used to it.

On Friday Mary and Early drove to San Diego to visit another ex - Texan Bonnie Williams Gough with whom they stayed overnight. Bonnie took them to a bowling alley where 12 deaf teams participated, but Early was disappointed for not seeing any ex - Texans on the teams. It was nice of Bonnie to let them spend the night there, so they could catch up with the news from "good old TSD days".

Driving to Los Angles, they enjoyed the scenic beach view all the way. They passed a huge Marine base called "Camp Pendleten and also saw John Wayne's house nearly at Newport Beach. Arriving at the home of the Reckenbergs, they were surprised to see Charles Cox from Dallas there. His wife Oveletta was hospitalized due to a clot in her brain. Charles said she was in a coma for two weeks, and when she opened her eyes, she made a "ILY" sign to him. The Coxes decided to move to California to be with their daughter. We went over to see their daughter, but she was not home at that time.

After returning to Texas, he encountered a heat wave. He said he tempted to return to California for good, but his family is in Texas, so he guessed he would be stuck here forever.

One good thing about returning to California is that Bonnie Gough's son, Gary invited me to go deep sea fishing off the Baja California coast during the forthcoming Christmas time. Right now, that really tempts me to go there again soon!

On October 16 Z. X. and Dorothy Curry took Geneva Reagan and Billy Corum to Bryan. They enjoyed visiting the George Bush Library. Then they went to a cemetery where Barbara Corum was buried beside her young son aged two.

Frances (Simmons) Gunter moved to Huntsville from Houston September 25. to be near her oldest daughter, Dorothy. Frances' new address is 1004 Oak St., Huntsville, Texas 77320. She would appreciate hearing from you all.

On October 21 Senior Citizens gave Officer Randy Melton a surprise birthday party at Woodhaven Baptist Church with a covered-dish luncheon. He was given a "over-the-hill" mug and a lovely kitty trivet basket that Clyde Hays made. We enjoyed chatting with everyone and played games there.

Maurice Ford did drew a lovely poster of a bunny signing "ILY" with the words "Happy Birthday, Officer Randy Melton.

GOOSE SENSE

When you see geese flying along in V-formation, think about what science has learned about why they fly that way. As each bird in the V flaps its wings, it creates uplift for the bird immediately following it. This cooperation allows the entire flock to fly at least 71% farther than if each was to fly on its own.

When a goose falls out of formation, it feels the resistance of trying to go it alone, and quickly gets back into formation to take advantage of the benefits of flying with the flock. If we had as much sense as a goose, we would work with others who are going the same way we are.

When the lead goose tires, he rotates back in the wing and another goose flies on the point. Members of the flock regularly honk from behind to encourage those up front to keep going.

Finally, when a goose weakens or is wounded and falls out of formation, two geese fall out and follow him down to help and protect him. They stay with him until he is either able to fly or until he is dead. They then set out on their own or with another formation until they catch up with their own group. If we had the sense of a goose, we would stand by each other like that.

The moral of the story is ... If you can't lead the flock, at least fly in formation and honk at those who do.

From James & Lavern Fair

We visited our son David and his family in Santa Rosa, CA last summer. We have a deaf daughter Sara, aged 8 and hearing son aged 6. Sara goes to a special school for the deaf in Santa Rosa. David is looking forward to graduating from the Baptist Theological Seminary next spring. Jane graduated from a community college and is now attending Samora University toward her bachelor's degree. At present she is employed by a law firm.

We also visited Lavern's sister Beatrice (Carlson) Lendgren and her husband Victor in Anaheim, CA.

We paid a surprise visit to James' niece Patricia (Duncan) Berenstein in Fremont, CA. She is employed by the California School for the Deaf at Fremont.

While in California, we visited many interesting places. We were impressed by a church which was totally made of redwood lumber in Santa Rosa.

On September 23, 1999 my friends, Lynn and Herbert White of Georgia spent three days with me. They were on their way to see their deaf son and daughter at the softball tournament here. Their son played there. Their daughter, Debbie worked at Texas School for the Deaf for five years. She transferred to the Maryland School for the Deaf last September. Lynn and Herbert met Laverne and James Fair there. There were over one thousand persons from different states. Our Texan team did not win. Next day Lynn and Herbert traveled to Dallas to spent one night with Dorothy and Max Floyd. Then they went back home in Georgia.

On September 30, 1999 I picked up Jeanette Padgett Mortzfeldt at the airport at 11:00 p.m. We were glad to see each other because we were classmates at T.S.D. She stayed with me till Saturday night. She enjoyed meeting her old friends. Her grandniece and her husband picked her up to go to Houston after watched the homecoming football game. She went to see her mother, Helen Padgett there. She stayed there with her mother for one week. Then she flew back to Maryland. She said that she was very excited to retire on October 1, 1999. Congratulations to Jeanette!

Brenda and Sammy Oates are very excited that their older daughter, Toni's baby girl was born on September 20, 1999. Her name is Sammi Jo. Sammy Jr. got his M. AWARDS NIGHT AT LA VISTA

About 150 persons from different parts of the state drove to San Marcos to attend the Awards Night being held at La Vista Retirement Community Center for the Deaf on Saturday evening, September 18, 1999.

A barbecue beef dinner was served which was followed by a program. The guests dined and then attended a well planned program in the Community Center which was centrally located there.

Iris Sandell performed as mistress of ceremony. Evelyn Kamuchey, president of American Foundation for the Elderly Deaf (AFED), welcomed everyone to participate in the event. She then introduced the officers and board members of AFED who were Kathryn Caldeleugh, vice-president; J. T. Jacobs, secretary; Perry Connolly, Jerry Mikus Jr., Marie Poss, Julius and Ruth Seeger. The board members who were absent were Carrie Lou Abbott and Jack Clifton. She also introduced Ruben Garza, general manager; John Hemenway, financial consultant and Brenda Cay, his assistant.

J. T. performed as a mime acting out several hilarious skits. Then Ralph White, past president of AFED, explained how the organization started until the community center for the deaf became a reality at last. Helen Sewell sang a lively song "Oh My Darling Clementine."

Dr. Gertrude Galloway, president of "The Deaf Seniors of America," delivered a speech on "Vision of Deaf Seniors of America". She predicted several things that would most likely happen to improve the lot of deaf senior citizens in this country as long as they successfully attempt to pursue them.

Evelyn Kamuchey with the help of the board members presented the certificates of appreciation and awards to those who had helped make La Vista center a success as of today.

Those receiving the certificates of appreciation were Carrie Lou Abbott, Brenda Cay, Jerry Hassell and Helen Sewell. Awards were presented to Ralph White in recognition for establishing "The Deaf Seniors of America," to Evelyn Kamuchey for her dedicated service to AFED, and to Jerry Mikus Jr. and Iris Sandell for their unselfish services to AFED.

Awards to express gratitude to those who made financial contributions to enable the center to become physically successful were presented to Willie and Evelyn Floerke, Norma Hensley-Naftaly, Ruby Kleberg, Lottie Marks, Dr. Daisy Palmer, Joe Picciandra and Paul Rutowski representing Sprint (Relay Texas).

The next event ~~was~~ held at La Vista ~~was~~ a free brunch on Sunday, October 3, 1999 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. ~~Everyone from anywhere is welcome to attend that day. Tell all your friends about it!~~ A large turnout was there from many parts of the state.

On July 17 L. V. Thornton watched a baseball game on TV and then took a nap. His wife Betty noticed that he had a seizure attack, so she called 911 whose crew finally woke him up and planned to bring him to an emergency clinic. But he refused to go there, as he preferred to have his family doctor examine him. He underwent MRI and EKG tests at Methodist Hospital in Dallas. They found a small cyst in his brain on July 19. His doctor gave him medication and ordered him not to drive for six months, and then Betty acted as his chauffeur bringing him everywhere including the senior citizens bowling league every Monday morning. His doctor told him if he had no more seizures after six months, he could drive again.

Listen to the Doctor

Hank Smith became so ill. His wife, Lizzie sent for the doctor, explains Rebecca Christner of Berne, Indiana. when Hank heard the doctor enter the house, he closed his eyes and did not move.

Doctor locked him over and declared in a loud voice. "Why, this man dead!:

At that, Hank's eyes flew open and he yelled at the doctor, "I am not dead!"

Now Hank, you just hush up". Lizzie scolded. Doctor knows a lot more about that than you do.
